West Chester Doc Named Top Teacher!

Dr. Amy Crawford-Faucher named “Exemplary Teacher of the Year”

(HARRISBURG, PA.) This year, Pennsylvania’s top physician teacher is from West Chester! The Pennsylvania Academy of Family Physicians (PAFP) has chosen Dr. Amy D. Crawford of West Chester as its 2012 Exemplary Teacher of the Year. Dr. Crawford-Faucher is the associate program director of the Crozer-Keystone Family Medicine Residency, where she is responsible for curriculum development and support, scheduling for two offices, and assisting with the residency’s administrative needs.

Crawford-Faucher received her Bachelor of Science degree in Communications from Cornell University and later graduated with an MD from the Medical College of Pennsylvania. Crawford-Faucher completed her family medicine residency at Fairfax Family Practice Center in Fairfax, Virginia, through the Medical College of Virginia (Virginia Commonwealth University), where she later received her faculty development fellowship.

Colleagues of Crawford-Faucher are ebullient in their praise. “She is the definition of a ‘full-spectrum’ family medicine doc,” said Laura Finocchio, MD. “She is one of the most generous people I know with her time, always finding time to mentor residents in our program.”
